Dear Valued Customer,

Thank you for purchasing Kasenna™ MediaBase 4.0.1 for SGI Linux™, which includes Red Hat® 6.1 and SGI ProPack for Linux™ 1.2. Before you install and set up your system, read the SGI Kasenna MediaBase 4.0.1 for Linux Software Bundle: Installation Instructions. It is important that you read this document because Kasenna MediaBase is not supported on all releases of Linux®. You can find this document online at:

<http://techpubs.sgi.com>

Change the search domain to "entire techpubs library," enter the title or part number 007-4116-001, and click the Search button.

In addition, the following SGI™ Supportfolio™ Online for Linux Web site highlights some information you may find useful to know about the SGI Linux distribution:

<http://support.sgi.com/linux/>

This site contains a copy of the Errata for SGI ProPack 1.2 for Linux, which supplements the documentation shipped with your system. If you have an SGI software support contract, you may contact SGI customer support for assistance. For support telephone numbers in your area, please see the Supportfolio site.

Finally, it is very important that you do not discard the Kasenna MediaBase box prior to documenting the software serial number. The serial number will be required during the installation process and for product support inquiries.

We appreciate your business.

Regards,

SGI Media Commerce™ Team
