

Dear SGI Customer,

Thank you for purchasing Data Management Facility (DMF).

With this package you have received an entitlement ID that allows you to request a permanent software license key, enabling you to execute DMF on your system platform. To obtain your permanent license, visit the following Software Licensing website:

<http://www.sgi.com/support/licensing/>

To install your license, you must follow the instructions in the DMF Release and Installation Guide.

To obtain future upgrades of DMF, you must have purchased a software support contract covering DMF and the CD media option. If you are a support contract customer, you can also receive assistance with configuration or operation of DMF by calling your local Customer Support Center. Contact your local SGI sales representative to purchase support or for more details on the benefits of a support contract.

Customers that have purchased a DMF support contract with the M05-CD media option are entitled to order the latest revision of DMF at no extra cost through Software Updates on Supportfolio or through their local Support Center. If you are upgrading from DMF 2.7 or below, new license keys are required. Order the new license keys through your local Support Center.
